

LivingWood

LivingWood is an architecturally designed hardwood floor, wall and ceiling system.

Pre-finished in a range of over 850 eco-friendly handcrafted colour options, installation is simple with no additional sanding or coating requirements.

Superior structural stability and precision engineering provides a smooth seamless finish and a long lasting surface that gains character with age.

Nothing compares to a LivingWood floor

A reputation built on quality

We understand that taking shortcuts always costs more in the long run. We source only quality materials and we've invested in developing the best manufacturing and environmentally friendly finishing processes available.

Because of this we take pride in offering a hardwood floor, wall and ceiling system that is used by New Zealand's leading designers and architects.

20 year structural warranty

We provide a 20 year warranty that your LivingWood timber floor will be free from structural defects when installed according to the correct installation instructions and when used under normal residential conditions.

Superior stability

The LivingWood Range offers premium quality European oak timber bonded to a multi-directional, plywood substrate for a smooth seamless finish with no warping or gaps.

It's the opposing layers of the plywood substrate that allow us to create a floorboard with superior stability and dimensional accuracy.

The precision engineered tongue and groove construction creates a tight inter-locking flooring system that can be installed over existing concrete, plywood or particle board.

Sustainable design

All our European oak is ethically sourced and purpose-grown in sustainably managed forests. By using oak for the surface layer only we can keep all the benefits of a traditional floorboard while cutting down less trees.

Pre-finished for easy installation and no additional sanding or coating required

Pre-finished with your choice of handcrafted colour in our Auckland factory means on-site installation is made fast and economical with no drying time, additional coatings or toxic fumes to live with.

100% natural and non-toxic colour range

We have developed a range of over 850 colours and finishes that will enhance and protect your timber flooring. All our finishes are eco-friendly and 100% toxin free with low odour and zero VOC.

Avoid using unnecessary and highly toxic petro-chemicals and synthetic based polyurethane for a natural healthier home.

Low maintenance surface that improves with age

Your LivingWood floor is designed to take the knocks. With minimum effort your floor will maintain a finish that takes on a rich patina, gaining character and depth as it ages.

The Range

The LivingWood Range offers premium quality European oak in three profiles and a choice of four surface finishes bonded to a multi-directional, plywood substrate for the ultimate stability and dimensional accuracy.

All custom coated and pre-finished in our 100% natural and toxin free colour range.

MONOCOAT

Developed in Belgium, our Rubio Monocoat oil wood floor finishes are plant-based, VOC-free and completely non-toxic. They are applied in a single coating and dry rapidly giving a surface finish of extraordinary durability.

All Monocoat finishes are easily maintained and provide a subtle lustre that reveals and complements, rather than covers, the natural grain and patina of the wood.

With nearly an unlimited range of finishes and colour options here are a few of our favourites to get started with.

Our Natural House Company range of eight colours offers a concentrated high solid grain fill oil made from the highest quality ingredients and blended from micro earthen pigments.

A completely natural and toxin free range of colours that uses pure plant chemistry for a rich hard setting oil that penetrates and feeds the timber.

Developed in Nelson, ingredients are sourced from around the world including tung nut oil from the mountains of central Vietnam, tree resins from Java, and pure plant waxes and clays from Indonesia.
